Biography

Jeffrey is an associate attorney in Clausen Miller's Chicago office. He is skilled in handling all aspects of litigation for matters including personal injury, professional liability, employment matters, breach of contract, probate and post-judgment collections.

Jeffrey is experienced in preparing all manner of legal documentation including pleadings, briefs and motions. He has experience in both litigating cases through trial and helping clients reach a favorable settlement, in part by ensuring he is up-to-date on all pertinent statutes, judicial decision and local rules relevant to his clients' case.

Prior to joining Clausen Miller, Jeffrey worked at a boutique Chicago law firm handling civil and personal injury matters. His experience includes representing transportation companies in legal proceedings involving large-scale motor vehicle accidents and tractor trailers, as well as cases involving medical malpractice and the Tort Immunity Act.

Jeffrey earned his J.D. from Loyola University of Chicago School of Law in 2016 after receiving his B.S. in Biological Science from Arizona State University in 2012. While in law school, Jeffrey served as a legal intern for the Chicago Public School system. He also earned a spot on the Dean's List in the fall of 2015 and spring of 2016.
